

Introduction

The Equity Securities examination focuses on the knowledge required to understand the equity securities and markets. The candidates for Equity Securities examination may include investment advisors, brokers, traders, research analysts, portfolio managers as well as the principal officers of stock brokering firms. This examination is also open to the general public.